Some Facts to Consider Regarding the Greater Victoria Water Board

If we look at the Saanich Peninsula and its relations to Victoria, what have we got? Broadly speaking, a strip of land, 22 miles long by from four to eight miles wide. Results have shown that it can produce small fruits as good, if not better, than any other locality. During the summer months it experiences a lack of moisture from 12 to 18 weeks, which reduces, as it did last summer, its crop to about 25 p. c. Its population is making rapid strides, greatly in excess of the Capital City, in North Saanich an increase of over 200 p. c. was shown during the last decade. It is dependent for its water supply mainly upon wells and springs, excepting those districts adjoining Victoria, and a small part of North Saanich, which is served by a local water company. As clearing and cultivation proceeds, many of these wells and springs are drying up. With the exception of the immediate vicinity of Victoria the most settled area is at Sidney, where several industries are located with a payroll of between $25,000 to $30,000 per month, giving employment to about 200. Here was the home of the Sidney Rubber Roofing, and doubtless the paper plant would have been located, with its sixty hands, if water at a reasonable rate could have been secured.

What is proposed? To create a Water Board with the control of all water on the south end of Vancouver Island to be operated, not for the benefit of any one section, but for the whole district.

Facts that should be seriously considered:

Our population is rapidly increasing.

Extension of the present water service will be demanded in the near future.

That loss of industries means loss of local markets for the producer.

That a vote for the Greater Victoria Water District Act means the securing of an adequate water supply for many years to come.

NEWS OF THE WEEK FROM MAYNE ISLAND

Wedding of Much Interest to Residents of Mayne Island Took Place on Feb. 1.

(Review Correspondent.)

MAYNE ISLAND, Feb. 6.—A very charming wedding took place at the parish church, Ladner, last Wednesday, when Miss Mabel Trim became the bride of Mr. Thomas Garrick, of Mayne Island, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Garrick. Miss Trim is the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Trim, of Ladner. B. C. The bride, who was charming in a costume of navy blue with picture hat on suite, carrying a bouquet of ophelia roses, and white carnations, advanced up the aisle on the arm of her brother, Mr. Bolton Trim, who gave her away. Miss Mabel Garrick, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, gowned in brown, with a large picture hat, carrying a lovely shaggy bouquet of pink carnations and asparagus fern. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Harold Garrick, of New Westminster. The ceremony was conducted by the rector, Rev. A. Gilbert. The hymn sung was "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." The bride and bridegroom moved down the aisle to the strains of the wedding march. The church was packed with the large number of friends of the high contracting parties and it was also beautifully decorated for the occasion. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Garrick left by private motor for Vancouver. The large number of friends of the newly-wedded couple will join in wishing them every happiness and prosperity.

The Judges of This Debate Will Most Likely Be Taking a Holiday For a Short Time

(Review Correspondent.)

PENDER ISLAND, Feb. 6.—A very humorous and interesting debate was heard at the Guild on Wednesday evening of last week, on that very important subject of the present day, extravagance. "Resolved, that men are more extravagant than women," looks very pleasing indeed to every woman's eye, and in their opinion, no doubt, should be left at that. However, much to the surprise, and possibly considerable dissatisfaction on the part of the ladies present, the negative won. There may be some explanation in the fact that the judges were all men, though married ones at that. The leading parts on the affirmative and negative were assigned to Mr. Will. Hawkes and Mr. Fred Stebbings, respectively, and both did extremely well. Following their speeches, the majority of the audience, which had previously been divided into sides, were asked to give two-minute speeches, and thus dispensing with the regular line-up.

Another familiar land-mark has gone—"Old Bill," Mr. Fry's old white horse, is no more. On Thursday afternoon he was relieved of the burdens of a life-time, and the following day, a fine black horse, with livelier step, arrived to fill his place.

Mrs. H. B. Harris and daughter, Nora, are visiting the Menzies here before leaving for their new home in Victoria, whence Mr. Harris and the other girls have gone. Their many friends and neighbors on Saturna and Pender will miss them very much and will wish them every success and happiness in their new sphere.

There was a smaller attendance than usual at the whist drive last week, only five tables being in use. The winners were Mrs. S. Church and Mr. Falconer, and the booby winners were Mrs. Stan. Stiggins and Mr. Robertson.

Rev. Mr. Drummond returned to "Valley Farm" yesterday, after spending a few days with his brother on Samuel Island.

After a pleasant three-weeks' holiday with relatives and friends in and around Victoria, Mrs. Gibson and son, Garnet, returned home on Wednesday.

Work on the Manse has been suspended for the time being, but the building looks very pleasing indeed.

Mr. Walton Bowerman has gone to Victoria with H. B. Harris for a few weeks.

C. R. Beckett left last week for Wellington, where he expects to be employed for some time.

MEETING OF UNITED FARMERS

The regular monthly meeting of the North Saanich Local, U. F. B. C. together with the second of a series of debates which are now in order at these monthly meetings, is postponed from Wednesday, Feb. 7, to Saturday, Feb. 10, when it will be held in the usual place—old school house, School Cross Road, at 8 p. m. All members are requested to make an effort to attend, to hear the result of the recent convention held at Vernon, also to hear the points of interest from a well represented delegation from the attending Fruitgrowers' meeting held in the City Hall, Victoria, the speaker there being Mr. Boyd Oliver, partner of Mr. Aaron Shapiro, both of California. The same delegation was invited to attend the annual meeting of the Keating Fruitgrowers, with a view to forming a central selling control, on Wednesday, Feb. 7 (hence the postponement). It is hoped that all members and any interested in fruit growing will turn out to hear the subjects discussed, not forgetting the debate "That the prairie provinces offer better farming opportunities than does B. C." The judges on the debate will be chosen from those attending.

REPAIRS COMPLETED.

Messrs. Copeland & Wright have completed the necessary alterations to the tugboat "Tim," and she left for Ladysmith yesterday afternoon. Mr. N. Copeland, Mr. Forbes and Mr. W. McLean were in charge of the craft when she left here. The repairs carried out were the installation of a larger engine, changing the steering gear, and sheathing the hull at the water line with 10 guano iron.

Wallace was appointed chairman, and in a short address explained the reason for the meeting. He stated that a number of ratepayers in this vicinity were unable, through lack of transportation facilities, to attend the meetings held by the Ratepayers Association at Keating and it was therefore considered advisable to get together here, and air views and get individual opinions. Mr. Munro Miller, of Cedar Hill, was called upon to speak and he explained very fully each clause in the by-laws of the act, after which a discussion took place, with the following resolution as a result: "Resolved, that the ratepayers of this westerly portion of Ward Six are strongly opposed to the measure known as the Greater Victoria Water Act, and will oppose any such scheme, which if possible, will no doubt take away direct representation from the people." A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Miller, after which the meeting adjourned. Refreshments were served.

OUR WEEKLY CANADIAN WHO'S WHO

By the Canadian Facts Publishing Co., Toronto

JOHN W. DAFOE.

If newspaper editors are regarded as eligible for mention in our Canadian "Who's Who"—and surely they are as members of an ancient and honorable profession—then John W. Dafoe is worthy of a place in the honor roll. One who is the directing head of a journal of the standing and reputation of the Manitoba Free Press is a man of parts on the face of it. One who helps to mould the public opinion over a constituency of a thousand miles from Winnipeg to the Rocky Mountains deserves such slight recognition as this paragraph implies. Mr. Dafoe has served a long apprenticeship in the newspaper field, starting as a sub-reporter on the Montreal Star, away back in the "eighties," when the Canada of Confederation was relatively young and Winnipeg only a boom town and the great west laying foundations. Nineteen hundred and one saw Mr. Dafoe installed in the Seat of the Mighty, in the old Free Press sanctum, where he soon made the paper a powerful influence and which it has always retained. Unlike some famous editors, Mr. Dafoe has his name on the backs of some books, dealing with western conditions and experiences, and later, some outstanding chapters on the war, but his chief contribution to the life of the country lies in his paper, which Sir Wilfrid Laurier once referred to as the best journal of its class in the Dominion. A relative youth, only in the "fifties," Mr. Dafoe is as yet in his prime and has far from accomplished his full days of life work.

ADAM DOLLARD

Adam Dollard (or Daulac) a young Frenchman, of Montreal, is one of the men of the French regime whose name and fame have survived the centuries and who has a secure niche in our National Hall of Fame as the Hero of the Long Sault. The tale is a thrilling one, though it belongs to the relatively remote year of 1660. As the commandant of the little garrison of Montreal, the brave and daring soldier asked leave of Maisonneuve, the governor, to lead a party of volunteers against the prowling Iroquois who infested the dense forests on the Ottawa. As P. Parkman says "the plan was bold to desperation." With sixteen followers—all young men—who had bound themselves to accept no quarter. At last they met their tiger-like foes, seven hundred of them. The story of the actual struggle is one of the epics of the world, though a harrowing one. Truly it was a war to the death, the foe being held at bay for hours while man after man of the little band fell until none were left. To the colony, the combat proved a salvation; the Iroquois had had fighting enough, and long postponed the day of revenge. But the sacrifice of the noble band thrilled the infant colony, as it has done all Canada, French and English, ever since.

Christ and Communism

By the Rev. G. A. Studdert Kennedy, M.C. in "The Torch"

Whatever plans you make to improve this old world must be based upon the facts of life. It's no good building castles in the air. They may be all right for jarks and angels, but they are no use for men. That is where the Marxian Communist strikes a snag. That's where he is weak. He won't face facts. That is where the Christian is strong. He must and does. It may take some time, it must take a long time, to make a Christian world, but it will take more time than there is to make a Communist world. Communists will get what they want when facts are lost in fairy land, when pigs have wings, and Galloper Smith becomes a Socialist.

From every man according to his powers,
To every man according to his needs.

That is the motto of the Communist, and a very good motto, too. But mottoes won't move mountains, or work a world of men. Men are rum things, not to mention women. How are you going to get every man to give in service according to his powers? How are you going to prevent men grabbing more than they really need? How are you going to make every man do his best for his fellow men? Men have very unequal powers. It is a lie, a regular whopper, to say that all men are equal. They are the most unequal things God ever made. You get one man 6 ft. 4 in. in his stockings, and another man 4 ft. in his boots. One chap laps up knowledge as easy as a cat laps milk, another wants a surgical operation to get an idea into his head. One man is a born leader and can sway a crowd as easy as a tompcat sways a forest, another can't control his house, never mind his nation. That's one of the outward facts. Men are unequal in power, naturally and inevitably unequal, and you can't make them equal. You may conscript property, but there is one kind of property you can't conscript, and that is the property a man keeps in his brain-box.

The trouble has been that the strong men have always wanted to be top dogs, to rule and govern their fellows, and get away with the lion's share of the good things of life. How can you stop them? There's the rub.

The Communist says:

"Force them. The weak must combine into one vast class-conscious army, and by this combination turn their weakness into strength, and secure the supreme power of the state." It sounds simple and easy. But think. If men are to combine they must have leaders. They cannot do it without; it is hard enough to combine men with good leaders, let alone men without or with bad ones. Who are to be the leaders? One thing is certain. Whoever they are, they will be strong men, exceptional men, like Lenin and Trotsky. Well, suppose we find them, and they combine the workers, win the fight, and capture the strongholds of power. Who is going to govern? Who is going to wield the power? They talk about the Dictatorship of the Proletariat. It's a good tag. But who are the Proletariat? Who will actually dictate? There are about twelve million workers. Are they going to govern? What, the whole twelve million? No, no. That's a common fallacy. It's a false tale to fool fatheads with. You would be governed by a small number of exceptional men. They may call it a Soviet, a Commission, or an Extraordinary Commission, or any other old name they like, but it will be very much like the present Cabinet whatever fancy names you give it. The only difference will be that they will be absolute dictators, which will make it worse. Who is going to make the strong men give the best of their powers? Who is going to say how much they need? When they start to exploit men in their interests who is going to prevent them? You can't have a revolution every week. They make such a beastly mess.

Communists talk as if all the upper classes were upper class because they are lower characters, because they are all rogues, pirates and blood-suckers. Well, some of them are. So are some of the workers. You know that. But many of the upper class are upper class because they are strong in the upper storey. They have the wits, and so they take the wherewithal. They are really upper class. You will always have upper classes. You will always have A1 men, B2 men, and C3 men, and you will always have A1 jobs, B2 jobs and C3 jobs. What you have to watch is that you don't get C3 fellows in A1 jobs, as you do now. I'm not defending classes as they are now. There is not sufficient equality of opportunity. There are men in common houses who ought to be in the House of Commons, and there are men in the House of Commons who ought to be God knows where. The present classes are not the real classes, but there are real classes, and there always will be, because there always will be the strong and the weak, and the mass who are neither strong nor weak, but patchy like the curate's egg.

That's what we want. A fair chance for every man. But mind you, by itself that won't solve the social problem. By itself equality of opportunity only means that you clear a ring, put in a good referee, and let the strong fight it out with the weak. It only means war between the real classes, and in that war the real upper class will win, and it will always be the smaller class, for life is not a battle of brawn so much as a battle of brains. The real upper class, the men of ability and power, who always rule in the end, are a minority, their strength does not lie in numbers. A class war will always end in the victory of the strong.

What Christ wants is to stop the fight. He did not say men were equal, but He did say that they were all of equal value. He tells the strong man that his strength is not his own, but was given him by God as a trust in order that he might help his weaker brother. He says that the strong are responsible for the welfare of the weak, and that if they use their strength only to help themselves they are damned to all eternity. He reveals the meaning of human inequalities; they are calls to service. The law of service is the law of life. The spirit of service is the spirit of life. With that spirit almost any system would work, without it the most perfect system would break down.

We must therefore have an educated people. We want all the power we can get. We must not waste our brains, as we are doing now. Thousands of splendid brains go to waste because of the abominable conditions under which our people live and work. We must have education. But what sort of education? It is not enough to produce clever men and women, well informed and full of knowledge. A clever man may be a clever devil—often is. We have plenty of them now. We must produce men who are more than clever; we want good men. By good men I mean men who can be trusted to give their very best in service, and not to grab more than they really need. Public-spirited, open-minded, hard-working servants of the community. We want them. We must have them. If education does not sup-

THE WATER ACT

The residents of this district will be called upon next Saturday to cast their vote either in favor or against the Greater Victoria Water District Act. This question is a very important one, and should receive the serious consideration of every taxpayer. As pointed out by Ald. Todd at the meeting last Friday night, the population of the districts surrounding Victoria will, in a few years greatly exceed the population of the city itself. The supply of water will then become a matter of first importance. If the scheme is not endorsed next Saturday, the residents of the outlying districts will have a huge problem on their hands at some future date. It is not to be supposed that Victoria will grant any special privileges to the outlying districts in this event. The community must get water, and will probably have to pay an enormous sum for the installation of the same.

If we are looking only to the benefits which will accrue to us of the present day the chances are the people will defeat the scheme, but if we look forward into the future and visualize the great benefits which an adequate supply of water will bestow upon our district as a whole the scheme will be heartily supported. To our mind that is the question. We feel that the scheme is a very worthy one and entitled to the support of all who have the welfare of the community at heart.

PRICES FOR DECEMBER

The average cost of the weekly family budget of 29 staple foods, says the Labor Gazette, was $10.39 at the beginning of December as compared with $10.29 at the beginning of November; $11 for December, 1921; $16.92 for June (the highest point reached); and $7.96 for December, 1914. The total of the combined budget of food, fuel and rent was $20.97 at the beginning of December as compared with $20.89 for November; $21.49 for December, 1921; $26.92 for July, 1920 (the highest point reached); and $14.26 for December, 1914. In wholesale prices the index number stood at 223.0 for December as compared with 221.7 for November; 230.7 for December, 1921; 356.6 for May, 1920 (the highest point reached); and 137.6 for December, 1914.

CANADA'S RESOURCES

The Dominion of Canada has an area of 3,729,665 square miles. It is considerably larger than the United States, including Alaska. The value of the manufactured products in 1919 was $3,520,724,039, the value of gold crops harvested in 1919 was $1,367,909,970 and the value of the minerals mined $217,217.

Canada has 5,000 miles of coast line fishing on the Atlantic and 7,000 miles on the Pacific. Within her borders is more than one-half of the total fresh water fishing area on the globe. Recorded value of fish marketed in 1920, $49,321,217.

There are about 200,000,000 acres of actual available timber in the Dominion. Furs and pelts to the value of $20,000,000 were sold in 1919.

"AS IT WAS IN THE BEGINNING"

"Regulation of dresses worn by High School girls in Alberta was the subject of a warm debate at the afternoon session of the United Farm Women of Alberta yesterday. Opinion was divided on the question of whether the government should insist on a fixed uniform for the 'flapper' girls in order to correct the prevailing tendency towards extremes."—Canadian Press Report.

With all due deference to the United Farmeresses of Alberta, The Star believes the Alberta government should do no such thing. Furthermore, it ventures to prophesy that the Alberta government won't. And, in the same daring spirit of prophecy it believes the worst possible sufferers from the adoption of any such radical policy would be the very women who now so warmly advocate it.

We do not at the moment remember who was Mother Eve's first grand-daughter, but we are willing to bet a hat that Grandma was shocked and disgusted by the "prevailing tendency toward extremes" displayed by grand-daughter's costume, whether said grand-daughter was clothed—or unclothed—in fig leaves or the pelt of the woolly Mastodon. All down the ages one generation has seen a "prevailing tendency toward extremes" in the clothing and the conduct of each succeeding generation. The staid dames of Athens doubtless found the modes of Aspasia more at fault even than her morals, and although there is no record of it, it is quite possible that a sub-committee of Druids worried itself black in the face over the way the virgins of Early Britain were neglecting to cover their extremities with woad.

If the Alberta flapper suddenly ceased to display a "prevailing tendency," etc., what on earth would the United Farmeresses of Alberta find to talk about in their spare moments? Let the flapper reform and the chief occupation of many of us would be gone.

But, bless her heart, she won't. She will run true to form, flirt her fig leaves or the latest thing in dishabille in the outraged face of the generation before her and in a few—so few!—years in her turn roll her scandalized eyes to Heaven at the "prevailing tendency toward extremes" evinced by her own grand-daughter.

Let the Alberta Farmeresses hold their horses. Everything is all right. "As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end."—Montreal Daily Star.

COAL SUBSTITUTES

It may be that some men with pull can keep their cellar coal bins full and feed their fires both day and night with good old-fashioned anthracite, but as for me you bet your boots, I'm using these here substitutes. It takes a man of great acumen, such as I fear is granted few men to burn this villainous bitumen. It pours out smoke in billowy swells and fills the house with dark brown smells. It throws out soot in blobs and blots and makes us look like Hotentots. I take each day, 'ere Phoebus rises, my daily dozen exercises. I stretch and strain and twist and stamp, to meet the views of Walter Camp. Then with the poker in my hand I do some stunts he never planned, while with the same I reach and tinker to worry out some cussed clinker. With costly coal I hourly stoke, and often, when I go to poke, I get a rush of flame and smoke that busts out through the furnace door and blows me off across the floor. You have to treat this soft coal gentle; the gosh darn stuff is temperamental. O all of us will feel like new men when we are through with soft bitumen. Our hard coal may be short in weight and long in limestone, shale and slate, but when once more it fills my bins I'll hail it with exultant grins. Yea, I will raise some happy hoots when it comes shooting through the chutes.

—BOB ADAMS.

THERE ARE SEVEN DREAMS

It has been said that three great problems confronted the mind of primitive man. The difference between living and lifeless matter; the fate of the individual human soul after death, and the nature of the figures that were most frequently seen in dreams, writes Hereward Carrington in Leslie's.

It may be said that, in a certain sense, these three problems still remain unsolved; for, although science has done much towards their solution, the primary questions still remain, in their broadest sense.

When we come to think of it, it is very remarkable that most of us consider our dreams so little. We spend approximately one-third of our lives in sleep, and it is almost certain that there is no such thing as dreamless sleep! We all dream all the time, only we do not remember our dreams. Therein lies the difference.

But many dreams are remembered—and a hopeless jumble many of them are, you will say! Certainly they appear to be so; but it is very doubtful if this is the case, as usually understood. We now know that we remember only a small fraction of any dream—what is called the "manifest content," and that below this is a vast mass of dream material never normally recalled, known as the "latent content." If we could remember this, we should see that most of our dreams are systematic, coherent, and frequently represent some wish or desire. All this has been shown by psychoanalysis and other methods.

It may be pointed out that practically every one of us has had, at one time or another, seven common dreams, which are said to have been dreamed at one time or another by nearly everybody in the world. These are:

- 1.—The falling dream.
- 2.—The flying dream.
- 3.—The dream of inadequate clothing.
- 4.—The dream of not being able to get away from some beast that is pursuing.
- 5.—The dream of being drawn irresistibly to some dangerous place.
- 6.—The dream that some darling wish has been granted.
- 7.—The dream of being about to go on a journey and being unable to get your things into your trunks, etc.

ply them, then it's no good to us. That is where Christ comes in. All Christians are not good men. But give Christ a fair chance, and He can do more to give us the men we want in all classes than any other power in Heaven or earth. Let Him loose on the world, open your hearts out to Him. Seek and follow where He leads and He can solve the problem by the power of the true social spirit. Hatred is no good. Fighting is no good. War of any kind leads nowhere. Karl Marx was the dreamer, Christ was the practical man. We want the true Social Spirit—the Spirit of Real Brotherhood. Christ is that spirit, and can give Himself to us; therefore we must have Christ.

When on the sweat of labor and its sorrow,
Toiling in twilight flickering and dim,
Flames out the sunshine of the great tomorrow,
When all the world looks up because of Him.

Then will He come with meekness for His glory,
God in a workman's jacket as before,
Living again the eternal Gospel story,
Sweeping the shavings from his workshop floor.

INTERESTING FULFORD HARBOR NEWS ITEMS

Very Enjoyable Concert Held on Friday, Feb. 2, in the Institute Hall, Fulford

(Review Correspondent.)

FULFORD HARBOR, Feb. 5.—

Last Friday night a concert, followed by a dance, was given in the hall here by a number of local artists.

The program was opened by Mrs. A. J. Eaton with a pleasingly rendered piano solo.

This was followed by a song entitled "Dearie," which was very sweetly sung by Mrs. J. Monk.

Next came Mr. F. Pyatt with a humorous recitation "Socrates Snooks" which evoked much laughter.

He was succeeded on the stage by Mr. Johnson, who sang "Peggy O'Neill."

Following this came one of the most pleasing items on the program, little Edna Morris and Florence Mollet dancing a hornpipe in sailor costume.

Then Mrs. J. Horel and Mrs. Johnson were heard to good effect in a duet, "Melody of Love," after which Mrs. Gerald Hamilton sang a topical football song, written on the doings of the local team, and accompanied on the ukelele by Miss B. Hamilton.

Next came two songs, "The Flight of Ages" by Mr. J. Monk, and "An Irish Lullaby" by Mrs. W. D. Patterson, followed by a humorous duet, "The Naggletons," by Messrs. P. Horel and R. Hepburn, Mr. Hepburn making "some chicken" in an evening gown of black georgette trimmed with gold.

After this came two more well rendered songs, "Call Me Back, Pal of Mine" by Mr. Isherwood, and "The Honeysuckle and the Bee" by Mrs. J. Monk.

Mrs. Eaton followed with some knowing (?) and pessimistic remarks on "Matrimony," which, however, the audience was unable to take seriously.

Then came a song, "Abe" sung by "Maggie and Jiggs," Maggie accompanying herself on the piano.

A five minute interval then preceded a short sketch entitled "An Afflicted Man," which was much appreciated by the audience.

The cast was Mr. F. Pyatt, the afflicted man; Miss Gladys Shaw, his desired; Mrs. W. D. Patterson, her aunt; Mr. T. Isherwood, valet, and Messrs. A. J. Eaton and M. McLennan, collectors.

After the sketch, "God Save the King" closed the programme and the floor was cleared for a very enjoyable dance, the South Salt Spring Orchestra officiating for this.

Excellent refreshments were served in the dining rooms during the course of the evening by some of the Beaver Point residents.

Everyone seemed to agree that the concert was the best held here yet, and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The proceeds will go to the hall fund.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wakelin on the birth of a son.

Feb. 4. The local basketball team visited Genoa Bay on Saturday night and returned victorious.

FULFORD HARBOR, Jan. 27.—Last night the local basketball players staged a comedy game between the girls and the boys. The boys wore hobble skirts and this probably accounted for the fact that the girls emerged victorious by 21 to 21. A dance followed the game, the South Salt Spring orchestra providing the music.

The merchant who does not advertise is as far behind the times as the old-time stage coach. RESTHAVEN NOTES

Mr. A. M. Holtor, manager of the Victoria branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, has been enjoying a few days' rest and treatment at Rest Haven.

Dr. D. E. Davenport, a returned medical missionary, stopped at the Sanitarium recently en route to China. He gave a talk in the parlour which everyone enjoyed, telling of his experiences in founding a hospital and dispensary in the province of Hoonan. Although there are many millions of Chinese in the province there are only six doctors.

Dr. Parrot, the medical superintendent, is a former colleague of Dr. Davenport.

A son was born to Dr. and Mrs. Parrot during the past week.

A radio, installed in one of the guest rooms, is being enjoyed by many. Concerts are daily heard from as far as Regina and Los Angeles, Cal.

It is planned to install a radio in the parlour soon with a loud speaker for the pleasure of the guests so that San Francisco and Los Angeles concerts may be heard in the parlour each evening.

AT THE AUDITORIUM

"IN THE NAME OF THE LAW"

The policeman has been lampooned and otherwise joshed in comedy films for years but now comes a melodrama that glorifies the finer instincts that actuate the average policeman in the performance of his duties. It is a production for which every bluecoat should stand up and shout "Thanks!" for it reveals him as a hero at work and at play; on the streets where he is exposed to danger and in the bosom of his family where he shows himself to be a father of a high type indeed.

The name of the production is "In the Name of the Law," to be shown at the Auditorium tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Pat O'Hara, the policeman, about whom the plot revolves is just the type of clean-souled, home-loving fellow who patrols the streets of the cities and towns and safeguards the lives and homes of all. Mrs. O'Hara is a bustling housewife, submerged in the tasks of the home.

They have two young sons and an adopted daughter. One son is at college studying law while the other is a clerk in a bank. Their home life is the home life of typical middle-class Americans.

But in the midst of their happiness misfortune comes upon them. The older son is accused of theft. The younger son is shot down by O'Hara himself in a police round-up following a robbery of the local bank. The father found the boy behind the bank during the excitement incident to the robbery and thought he was one of the bandits.

There was a shot in the dark. A shriek of pain. A fallen figure. When O'Hara picked it up he looked into the face of his own son. He was badly wounded in the head.

This brings the story to a baffling situation. The action is fast and furious with heart-tugs galore.

Good Comedy
In addition to the feature film a good comedy will be shown.

"Grandma's Boy"
For the week of Feb. 16 and 17, Manager Halsey has secured "Grandma's Boy," one of the best pictures being shown today anywhere. The cost of this picture is far in excess of those usually shown here, but Mr. Halsey has decided that the same popular prices shall prevail for this picture as in the past. Everyone will want to see "Grandma's Boy," and as a result it is expected a capacity house is looked for at both performances.

THE CABARET

Miss Eva Hart, Miss Ora Pearson and Mr. Davis, all of Victoria, will contribute to the programme at the cabaret next Tuesday evening, at the Social Club hall, Deep Cove, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Church. The fact that these talented artists be- lying among those who will be heard on this occasion gives some indication of the excellent entertainment that will be provided. In conversation with one of the committee in charge of the details, it was learned that an idea is abroad that seats will not be provided unless reservations are made. This is a mistake. Seats will be provided for all who attend, but table reservations must be made if that accommodation is desired.

NOTICE TO PARENTS

Parents are reminded that the second term of the present school year commenced on Feb. 1, and it is desirable that all children over six years of age who are not attending school should register at once, as a new class for beginners has been formed.
